“ I worked with Chris early in our careers at Arthur Young. We got to work on at least 2 jobs together where Chris was the senior and we were working really long hours. He always made the environment fun and light-hearted; he could make a game out of anything, even if it was just tossing an eraser up against the wall. Chris was also an amazing teacher and mentor, as I was just learning my way around the auditing world. Most of all, he was genuine in his faith. I am also a follower of Jesus, so he and I sensed that connection very quickly as we had many discussions about our faith.

Linda, Chris also spoke so highly of you. Though we lost touch shortly after your first child, I have no doubt that he was also an amazing father. May you be blessed by your good memories of Chris and by the assurance that you will see him in heaven.
