“ I was deeply saddened to see that Mr King had passed away but inspired, enlightened and grateful to have even known such a man. Meeting him many years ago at the annual Muskogee VA POW Appreciation luncheon, my mother and I would then look forward to seeing him there every spring. My father had passed years before but we still were included in this lovely gathering of gentle men who had endured and given so much. I will never forget his quick wit, smile, kind words, enthusiasm and apparent joy to be with others. He represented to me that incredible force and spirit of a generation we will not see again. His humbleness and generosity were just a few of many wonderful attributes that I recall now when remembering him. As that unique collection of often silent heroes leave us, I will be reminded often and fondly of his memorable appearance in my life. What a man much loved and a life well lived !!! Many heartfelt sympathies to all who knew and loved such a remarkable man. Carolyn Cahoon Watts

“ I've known James King for at least 30 years. He was the best neighbor and friend anyone could ask for. We all enjoyed and admired him and all of his stories about life. He is a beloved soul and he will be greatly missed by our family.

“ I first met Jay in 1964 at the Broken Arrow Church of Christ where he and wife, Carol, welcomed us to the congregation by inviting Geames, Craig, and me into their home for a meal and we reciprocated by having them in our home. After Carol passed away, we would see Jay from time to time, mostly in his office when we needed legal help. He was especially helpful after the Broken Arrow church deeded property to the Church of Christ at Whispering Hills, and again to me personally after Geames passed away with advice when selling my home.

Jay will always be remembered as a man who served God in whatever capacity was available to him. He was a happy, jolly man. If you were going to see him, you knew you had to allow extra time for he loved to talk; he was always interesting, never boring.

I want to give my condolences to Elizabeth, his two sons and their families. Jay's spirit will always live on in those who knew and loved him.

“ J. was a great Christian man, a great veteran, and a great friend who took me under his wing. I thank him for his service, I thank him for his advice, I thank him for his friendship.

“ I was a neighbor to James for 4 years. I met him because he knocked on my door, asking me to witness a document for him. From that point, I came to know he and Carol. He assisted me with advice when I adopted my daughter and became a friend. What a wonderful man he was! Much blessings on the family. Paula Crain

“ God bless the King family. I pray your joy for him, overtakes your sorrow. Mr. King had a fun and loving spirit and it was both a pleasure and honor to be his friend. I will miss my Houdini, but only for a season, then I'll be meeting him for pie in heaven.
